I worked with Chris in a really big project At Children's. He was a kind, gentle sweet man that I will miss. I sensed in him a depth of understanding and compassion that I don't see a lot of in others. His presence and light will be sorely missed.

Chris, I dont really know what to say. You are the love of my life. We met at 14 and 16 years old on Oct 5th 1997. Please know that I will keep peyton safe and he will know what an amazing man and father you are. Even as time passes by, you will always be in my heart. I hope that you have found peace. We miss you more than words can say. But, remember, we will meet again someday. But until then, I love you with all of my heart and peyton will know you.

Many memories flood my mind when I think of you. From how you just loved to get under my skin – to your unwavering love. God has an Angel by his side that will help him with anything. That was the person I will remember. He never said no, was always willing to help. I love you now as I loved you the day you showed up on our door step. I know you are at peace with your soul – even though my heart hurts I am at peace knowing I will see you again. Love then, love now, love always. Munchkin ??
