I don't know that my heart will ever accept that you have gone on without me. I am so sorry I wasn't there to save you like you saved me so long ago. All day long I have had pictures in my head of who might have met you at Heavens Gates. I see the joy in your face as you see the lovely Mrs. Kathy Barton, then Our grandparents Mamaw and Papaw, and maybe even Daddy. I know its selfish to want you back and all this to not be real. I do. I know they love you so much to and have waited a long time. For all my tears today, I know you have nothing but joy at the struggles of this world having came to an end. When its my time to come to finally come home I sure hope the Lord sends you there to meet me just like he did my very first day on earth with mama & daddy and our sister and brother. I love you always and forever my Big Brother.
