I was introduced to the "Johnson" family in 1970..They were totally different from the family I was raised in.More exciting and outgoing for sure.Greg and I were married in 1972 and on July 12th,1974 had a son that we both were excited to have come into our lives.He has been a blessing in more ways than one.Was told I could not have any more children and it was all planned of God that I would have him. Thank you son for being there for your dad during these past years and making memories for you and your family to last a lifetime.Love you dearly.MOM

Me and my nephew Greg are two years apart in age. We were raised extremely close. We did everything together. We always loved to dance. Many times when we danced people would stand back to watch us. I was good, he was great. John Travolta had nothing on Greg. We were on TV a couple of times. We spent every minute possible of our childhood and teenage years together. Greg loved women and was interested in fashion, hair and makeup. He always helped me with my hair and wardrobe when we went out. We lived together off and own all our lives. I am so thankful for our memories we made together. I named my son after him. He called me his Duckling. I love him as my own soul. I will be so happy to see him again soon.
