Warren Leroy Brown

JUN 26, 1947 - AUG 30, 2016

Our beloved Warren Leroy Brown (Bomber Brown), was born out of the Union of John Allen Brown and Doris Beatrice (Floyd) Brown on June 26th, 1947. Warren was the oldest of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Brown. He was born in Atlantic City, New Jersey. Shortly after his birth, his parents moved him to New York where he grew up and developed his easy going persona, his firm yet gentle demeanor, and his love for family and friends. Warren was always an excellent student. During his teen years he made several life changing decisions that would have a major effect on him for the rest of his life. At age 14, he accepted Jesus as his Lord and Savior through catechism training. He started playing basketball in junior high school and by the time he was in high school, he was the talk of the New York City with the likes of Tiny Archbold, Kareem Abdul Jabbar, Eddie Fogler and many others. They called him Bomber Brown after Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber. Then he joined the Marine Corp, where he was wounded in Vietnam and gain the Purple Heart, along with other honors as well. Warren also had a love for all types of music. It showed as he found solace in music and he mastered the drums, the trumpet and in his latter years, the guitar. Warren's Grace and Humble heart was always present but really surfaced when around people. His kindness and love for others, was constant and very evident. Warren was a man of great spiritual strength which was always betrayed in his faith, through his many many good deeds. It was some years later, in December of 1976 when he met the love of his life Colette Weston. That love was instant the day he laid eyes on Colette, (Cooka-a-look, as he would call her), and that soul uniting love brought forth a Holy Union and their souls were now one. Warren's latter 30 or so years were spent in Dallas Texas where he went back to college to the fulfill one of his many dreams of helping others directly, through physical therapy. Warren's love for family, life, and friends was unconditional and seem to never ever waiver. After seeing his family grow to three generations, on

I miss you more than life it self. Because you showed me so much love when you were here in the physical form, helps me make it through these emotional days. With August 30th approaching, the day you went to rest is extremely emotional for me. I wish I could just hug you again and receive your hug back. I know you would want me to be OK and I am trying. I miss you every moment of my life I am still living. Rest in peace my LOVE !!

Hello Dad! How was celebrating right there at the hand of our lord for HIS bday? I bet it was incomparable! ;-) Thank you for keeping me fatherly boosted with your spiritual encouragement as u always did and still do! Thank you JESUS for allowing him to...Thank you Jesus for my salvation so I am able to be redeemed in you Christ! Thank you GOD for all and everything and what not is as well! Dad....Mom is still somewhat having a tough time with your physical not being here. May you please please help her with her strength and understanding as she needs it. We all do but Mom is still struggling with expectance. You know...Jesus is witness that her Faith is immaculate but the doubt that is forbidding acceptance is interfering in her journey. I need to be complete before anything so I ask you to step in if allowed and assure her soul that YOU ARE OK...YOU ARE GREAT AND IN INFINITE JOY!. If she knows and excepts this then her worry will somewhat diminish...opening the door for her path to forever residence in YOUR kingdom! I also PRAY this in Jesus name. Therefore, I know IT WILL be done and I thank you in advance! Dad - I love you and miss you dearly but I know that you are well! You hv defeated Death and are LIVING! I know this!! Thank you God! Praise God!! will tty in 2020 and please dnt stop working on my carrying on of your legacy! Love you dearly...

Its hard but we are maintaining(as you probably already see from above). I'm still trying to mirror my walk in Life down here with you and what you taught me and I WILL NOT stop! ...Even when i get to that point, I will continue to better myself as a child of God and Love Love Love...AS YOU DID! Please watch down over us Dad! And may you ask Jesus to lift up my son out of these early trenches and steer him in the direction of holiness and/or show me what to do better as a father to make sure he lives his life for God?

Whenever Warren and his Aunt Lillian had moments to reminisce, they would talk about: How she could bet him running until he became a teenager, The hats that she called his personality. The first cars that Warren and his friends had (Road Runners and Chargers) and how fast they used to drive. Something related to health or exercise (martial arts) The jokes .... constant jokes. QueensBridge.. do you remember..... We remember the depth of Warren's laughter and the ease of conversation when he was with family and friends. One of the last imes that we saw Warren and some of his close friends from high school and his early adult years was when the high school (LONG ISLAND CITY H. S.) hosted a tribute to the best athletes....UNsung HEROS of the school. Warren (The Bomber) Brown, the legend was acknowledged for the academic and athletic accomplishments of his time. As his young girl cousin....I remember him being quietly protective. A very serious conversation I remember was us agreeing not to talk about Viet Nam... For the last thirty plus years Warren has been far away BUT.... because he was Warren; when we met we were never distant. Now we'll see him in the stars... Aunt Lillian & Cousin Jo-Ann New York City

Please..anyway you can peek down or take a break from eternal bliss and push or show me in the right direction when I'M steering(which is often lately)? I know you will through means of signs, voice, or light so thank you! God...thank you for allowing Dad to still be here with us and i pray that you continue with the blessing of showing me truth..showing me faith within untouched...showing me eternal light while in this flesh! Thank you for the guidance of the Holy Spirit—THANK YOU FOR YOU SON, OUR LORD JESUS. THANK YOU JESUS!! As i close today Dad...I'M letting you know, our love for you is growing and getting stronger. It has always been unconditional but God is showing us the way. I love you Dad and miss you. will tty soon. I pray you watch over the Family that I've been Blessed with now, today, tonight, tomorrow, next yr and for as long as your will calls for us to reside in this flesh—until it is our turned to be called.

King.....You are always in my heart but today you were heavily in my heart. This morning and it seems like every Wednesday is not good because it causes a relapse of the longest, most saddening, most depressing and deteriorating moment in my life. I am still pushing forward, with the goal of walking as you did and I'm getting better but these spurts of reality tend to get rougher the more I am able to keep growing. I asked God for strength every day and HIS Grace—to know that all will eventually make sense to where I don't have to question! I yearn for that moment but until then, I will keep loving you from down here and keep on my path to walking as an earthly king did while here....you, King Warren Leroy Brown! -I love you beyond and for eternity Dad. And I look forward to the day when I see my Lord and Savior Jesus, face to face with you and all Gods angels, including grandma, grandpa, grandma Suretta, Aunt Sheila, Uncle Pierre, Aunt Geraldine, and Rene.

Hello Dad! How are you(sarcastically-cause I know your are just fine)!? The more and more I learn to accept that you're not here, the longer I go without mourning which I don't want to do. I prefer to think of you everyday but just which it didn't bring the pain. The only solution for that is to continue to think of you until the happy thoughts conquer the pain. And GOD tells me it will be... So i believe in my FATHER! Dad, I miss you more then I can handle sometimes. I pray and ask that you show me you periodically so I can grow...from the morbid and to the beauty and love! tty this weekend when i go see mom on her birthday. Love you
