My first introduction to Clayton was when I was in elementary school and Walnut Hill Church of Christ was just opening. The parking lot had not yet been paved but the rain came anyway. He was out in the mud in his waders helping the congregation and visitors get into the building. I guess that kind of sums up his life to me. No matter how deep the muck or how much effort is needed, he would always be there to help. I will truly miss him. His passing leaves a really big hole down here, but I am sure he is waiting for us in heaven. Phyllis Crawford Cox
