When we first met Bob and Patty, he mentioned that we clicked. Bob said that they enjoyed the relationship we began together. It was too short a time in the building process... We will miss Bob's company, his quick wit, his team building games, big hugs, encouragement in the ministry, his generosity, the meat bar-b-ques he invited us to and seeing the amazing devotion and love that he had for Patty and his family. But aside from our loss, Bob's best qualities live on in Joel, Jeanette and JJ. They are productive professionals, wonderful parents, a good student, true sportsmen, have a good sense of humour; they are close siblings and a huge support to their mother and grandmother. It was a privilege to know Bob on our journey in life. He will be missed, but it is really good to know that we will see him again! We love you Patty!

Patty, I cannot tell you how sorry I am for your loss. Dr. Bob was always so kind and respectful to me. Once, when I was having a tough time, he gave me a pep talk and told me "I was so much better than that". You have no idea what that did for me at that time. He always had a great big "bear hug" for all of us. I was still waiting for him to write that book on "Jasperisms" he always talked about writing. My prayers are with you and your family. May God rest and keep him in his loving arms.

Dear Patti and family: I have had the privilege of working with Dr. Bob for the past two years both in his role as a Divisional and in his new role as Academic Dean at the Dallas Campus. Please know that Dr. Bob was well respected and highly thought of by all who knew him. He was truly one of the kindest and most genuine "servant leaders" that I've ever met. Even though he was only with the Dallas Campus for such a short time, he always had a way of blessing my day and putting a smile on my face. The last thing he said to me last Tuesday (3/15), which was always one of his favorite comments, was that "My fun meter has expired, and it's time to go home". Little did we know at the time that there was some truth to that statement. All I know is that Dr. Bob will be sorely missed.
