My wonderful Great Aunt Margaret was always a blessing to be around. Although she lived far away from my family, we saw her as often as we could and those are many sweet memories that I will forever treasure. One memory that sticks out in my mind was when I was in 6th grade, I went with my grandparents to Dallas for Aunt Margaret and Uncle Sam's 50th wedding anniversary. After a fun filled evening of playing cards, I took a picture of them in their house and didn't think a whole lot of it when I took it. When the film developed, they were sitting by each other and Uncle Sam was holding her hand and they looked so in love like they were young kids still. It amazed me how a couple that is married that many years still had this look of absolute passion for each other in their eyes. This picture will be forever engraved into my mind as I hope to be that much in love with my husband in 50 years! So many, many love, hugs and kisses to Uncle Sam, Stewart, Marci, and Maria!
