Four years today. I miss you so ungodly much its overwhelming. Ill never forget what you taught me and i will never look at life the same. Its not something to be taken for granite, because you never know when you might pass. You were a prime example of that Grandpa. I will always remember the feel of your hands, the smell of your coffee that i loved so much in the morning and tthat funny laugh. Ill never forget how much you loved us and my mother. Most of all i will never forget the way you loved my Grandma. R.I.P. Grandpa, four years today and we think about you everyday. I love you so very much and you will never be forgottin.
