Cash Valentine lit a candle in honor of Robert.

I only knew Robert for a short time, but it was the best time. He truly had a heart of gold. He treated me like his own son. He would buy me presents, encourage me to learn or experience more. We built a little laser noise machine when I was six out of a battery. There's just so much about Robert and I wish I was old enough to say this but, thank you for the time you were here, I felt loved and truly had someone I could talk to. To Robert, my guardian angel
