life, and the strength she possessed when that quality slipped below that bar. Sandra and Steve traveled extensively since Steve's retirement in 1995. They spent fun times with family and friends on their catamaran in the British Virgin Islands. They frequently traveled with Suzie and Tog Rogers, family and friends to Europe, Alaska, Canada, Central and South America, and the Caribbean. These travels also included spending fabulous times at their home in what she affectionately called her "Happy Place:" Isla Mujeres.

Sandra lived a life that most people can only dream of living. She loved her life and always said: "My Life's Been Grand."

In lieu of flowers Sandra's desire was for you all to make a donation to the charity of your choice in her name.
