This is a good one, pop your corn! I worked with Sharon, but not really, we worked at the same place. My dad introduced us. He worked with Sharon's boss and introduced us, me a CA girl in Dallas. Sharon and I became the best of friends. I had not yet become an employee, and flew back to CA every week. One rainy night, lightning stopped all the flights at DFW. In our many conversations, Sharon had told me about her buddy, a top level air traffic controller for this giant hub. Shelly is her name. And I hope Shelly is reading this. We had de-planed for lightening, no take offs for 10 or 15 minutes between strikes. I headed to the bar, they did have decent beer at the airport. After being called back to board, we found we were 23rd in line for take off. Think about it, lets say 3 minutes per plane, that's a long time sitting in line, again. I was bragging (drunk) to some stranger I had made friends with in the bar, he bought me my last 22... (ounce you amateur!) and I spilled that I knew someone who knew someone who is the head honchete air traffic controller here. The guy called me out! I finally texted Sharon, asked if she could tell Shelley was was up? And I showed the dude the text. Next thing I heard was "Flight #... 3 planes ahead of you" Seriously. That guy thought I was magical. And I know Sharon Wilson is magical. And Shelly, where ever you are, thanks for making me look good, and getting me home! This still cracks me up. Funny, cause it is absolutely a true story!

I Love you Sharon. Thank you for always believing in me. You moved so kind and gentle through this world. One of the most generous people I have ever met. I will always think of you as I drive through Amarillo. I would always shoot a picture and send it to you, as I giggled and would bust out now how do you get to Stratford? As we both know I have no sense of direction. All the stories will be missed. You are loved. Fly away sweet friend, don't forget to say "hi" every now and then. 🍷❤️🙏🍷 Andrea Sharon was a constant in our lives—Tanya for over 50 years and myself for 44. I'll never forget the day we met. She invited us over for dinner, handed me a plate of raw steaks, and asked me to take them to the grill. Trying to play it cool despite being surrounded by her three dogs—a German Shepherd and two Rottweilers—I headed out the door. Just as I was frozen by the pack, Sharon burst out with that unforgettable, great laugh of hers and said, 'Oh, they don't want you, just those steaks!' She was truly one of our very best friends. We loved her dearly and we will miss her always.

My very favorite story of Sharon, fairly early in our work relationship, she was checking in on me as she always did, and I noticed something on the lapel of her jacket, like broccoli maybe... we laughed for years about it. Sharon was a dear friend and coworker for many years. She was always rescuing dogs and broken people. She would tell you exactly what she was thinking, sometimes whether or not you asked. I trusted and valued her - she is already missed. Cheers to you my dear friend, I will see you on the other side.
