“ I had Ms.Morini as my broadcast teacher in 7th and 8th grade. I was going trough a lot at home, and going into her class always made my day better. I was in her last class year before she retired. She gave me her huge stuffed monkey, and I recently gave it away to another friend who was in her class. She was always funny to be around, and was a strict and sassy teacher. She was the reason I went to school at all, and helped made me the person I am today. I was sad when she left, and will miss her dearly.
