“ Tio Pancho was absolutely unique. His humor and sense of mischief are what I will miss the most. He loved to tease his wonderful wife Sandie as well as prank unsuspecting victims. He refereed many a political debate when I would stay behind to help clean up after a gathering of the motley crew. I will miss him greatly although I am cheered by the fact that he is causing mayhem in heaven. Till we meet again Tio Pancho!

“ Tio Pancho could always light up a room and make friends with everyone around him. I don't think he ever met a 'stranger.' He was always there for me when I needed him growing up, whether it was a ride to school when I missed the bus or a big hug and letting me know he loved me. He was the best Uncle I could have ever asked for.
